

BNT 111 : New Testament Survey

This course briefly studies the historical backgrounds (political, social, religious) of the intertestamental period; the Greek, Roman, and Jewish backgrounds of the New Testament world; a limited introduction to New Testament chronology, geography, and biography; and a survey of each book of the New Testament, including a limited study of its authorship, date, outline, purpose, and main events connected with each book.

Credits 3