

PED 330 : Human Growth and Development

This course is developmental analysis of the human lifespan, from conception to death. Attention is focused upon physical, cognitive, psychosocial, moral and spiritual development. Socialization with family and friends, interaction with peers in schools, and choosing vocations are explored, as well as significant life events.

Credits 3